ISO 50001:2018 EnMS LEAD AUDITOR ONLINE COURSE

ISO 50001 Lead Auditor training is an international standard that specifies the requirements for an energy management system (EnMS). It provides a framework for organizations to manage and improve their energy performance, reduce energy costs, and minimize their environmental impact. Several online training courses can help you confidently understand and implement an energy management system based on ISO 50001.

- Plan, manage, and schedule an audit program to evaluate your EnMS
- Interpret the ISO 50001 requirements and understand energy terms and definitions.
- Identify, understand, and manage energy sources, use and reduction opportunities, and associated measurements.
- Provide critical knowledge for your management and staff on ISO 50001

WHAT WILL I LEARN?

- Develop and implement an energy management system (EnMS) based on ISO 50001:2018
- Align your energy objectives and targets with your organization's strategic intent and intended results.
